Mark Carrier Construction, Inc. Completes “Image-Upgrade” at Lannan Chevrolet of Lowell

Mark Carrier Construction, Inc. (MCCI) recently completed an extensive dealership upgrade at Lannan Chevrolet of Lowell in Lowell, MA. The project was part of a national effort by General Motors to encourage dealerships throughout the country to update their facilities. The project incorporated aluminum composite panels on the exterior, including a distinctive entry portal. The interior upgrades were also extensive, including dramatic improvements to the showroom’s lighting, ceiling, flooring, wall finishes and furnishings. Many of the adjoining office and conference room areas, as well as the service drive and service administration areas, also received substantial improvements.

MCCI is a full-service construction firm specializing in commercial, industrial, healthcare and government projects. MCCI’s experience ranges from new construction to renovations, additions to service work. The company prides itself on the ability to aid clients with needs that range from pre-construction planning to occupancy. For more information, please call 603-627-9506 or email info@mcci-nh.com.
